About the Event

The 10th IWA Symposium on Modelling and Integrated Assessment (Watermatex 2019) will provide a great forum to exchange methodologies and international experiences on all aspects of water-related problems within an interdisciplinary framework that relies heavily on different types of models. It deals with problems in drinking water treatment and distribution, sewer systems and wastewater treatment, surface and groundwater, technical and natural systems.

It targets people from research, consulting companies, institutions and utilities to extend the use of models and computing tools to support the understanding, management and optimization of all water systems. Pre-conference workshops will be organized, including a YWP workshop. Senior and Young Water Professionals will jointly review papers.

The Modelling and Integrated Assessment (MIA) Specialist Group of IWA organises Watermatex as a quadrennial symposium. We look forward to welcoming you in the beautiful city of Copenhagen, Denmark, in September 2019 for the 10th IWA Symposium on MIA.

Conference Themes

- (Bio-)chemical process modelling
- Separation processes modelling
- Resource recovery
- Drinking water systems
- Sewer networks
- Receiving water systems
- Plant-wide and integrated assessment
- Holistic evaluation (LCA, circular economy and socio-economic aspects)
- Benchmarking
- Decision support systems
- Climate-water-energy-food nexus
- Uncertainty, sensitivity and risk analysis
- Automatic control
- Sensors and monitoring
- Computational fluid dynamics
- Big data and machine learning
- Digitalization of water

Abstract Submission

- Maximum length of abstract paper is four A4 pages including 2 pages of text and 2 pages of tables/figures
- Key selection criteria are:
 - Novel and well described work;
 - Relevance to the conference themes.
